Long-Acting Reversible Contraception (LARC): Exploring Ethical Practice and Reproductive Rights in Britain

Friday 10th January 2020 : Bridge 5 Mill, Manchester

Who?

- Are you working in a health, education and social care setting with service users who may use hormonal contraception?
- Are you an academic or activist interested in reproductive health and rights?

What?

Join us for a free-of-charge, one-day workshop where stakeholders from the health service, voluntary sector agencies and social work alongside academics, will explore the ethical aspects of practices and interventions involving LARC methods in Britain. Lunch provided.

Full programme and speakers to be announced soon via website. Limited travel bursaries available for voluntary sector agency staff and students. Please express your interest via Eventbrite by 18th October 2019. See website for link: https://thomasg23.wixsite.com/larc
